First UniCredit Integrated Report released

- 2014 Integrated Report details commitment to sustainable value creation
- Financial and non-financial data combined for first time in a single document

MILAN, May 13, 2015 -- UniCredit has released its first integrated report, combining information on its financial and sustainability performance within today's business environment.

The 2014 Integrated Report, in line with the latest changes to international corporate reporting, approved by the Board of Directors, demonstrates the sustainable approach in UniCredit's core business, which was recognized with a Bronze Class Distinction in sustainability in January 2015 by RobecoSAM, an international investment company focused on sustainability investing.

"The sustainable creation of value is core to our strategy, and our people are 100-percent committed to this goal," said UniCredit CEO Federico Ghizzoni after the company's Annual General Meeting. "Our work and investment choices are all carried out with this in mind, with the aim of enhancing all of our capitals: financial, intellectual, human, social and relationship, and natural."

In step with its strategic plan, UniCredit will work to enhance its capitals by focusing on initiatives that create value for both the Group and its stakeholders. Stakeholder engagement is and will be fundamental to the effort to generate benefits for the Group and the communities it serves.

The 2014 Integrated Report provides detailed information about UniCredit's activities over the past year in 15 of the countries where it has significant operations: Italy, Germany, Austria, Poland, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Bulgaria, Croatia, the Czech Republic, Hungary, Romania, Russia, Serbia, Slovakia, Slovenia and Ukraine.

The guidelines adopted for the preparation of the sustainability information included in the Integrated Report are the Sustainability Reporting Guidelines (version G4) and the Sector Disclosures – Financial Services, both published in May 2013 by the GRI (Global Reporting Initiative).
