We ideally like to collect the witness to continue for the next ten years their path of innovation and success - even on the stock market - trying to capture the great opportunities that the 4.0 imminent revolution offers to all of us. A new generation of users and consumers, the Millennials, and the potential of 4.0 applied to media and web, will create new business scenarios, new ways of purchasing and consumption, new lifestyles, thanks to which we will continue our Italian challenge, but on a global scale, in the luxury and digital sector, trying to continue the path of the high-tech made Italy success in the world".*
