THE 'Diritto.it', THE NEW SIMONE S.P.A. ONLINE NEWSPAPER, IS BORN

- Company expands web presence with a newspaper dedicated to legal information
- The new title is presented at the latest congress organised by the F.E.St Foundation - Forensic Training School of Santa Maria Capua Vetere

Milan, 24 June 2024 – Simone S.p.A. ("Simone" or the "Company"), a company operating in the publishing sector, announces that it has registered at the Court of Rome the title 'Ildiritto.it', an online daily newspaper dedicated to legal information. The new title was presented to the public today in Santa Maria Capua Vetere (CE), within the premises of Fondazione F.E.st. - Scuola di Formazione Forense, on the occasion of the training conference 'Abuse of the process and the effectiveness of judicial protection'.

'Il Diritto', or more simply 'Il D', is a journal of Dike Giuridica, a company active in the field of legal publishing and part of the Simone group, which aims to become a point of reference in legal information for professionals in the sector, legal scholars and all readers interested in these issues. The editorial staff, headed by editor-in-chief Marina Crisafi, is made up of highly specialised authors and collaborators, legal professionals who update the portal daily with their articles, to offer 'information that is technical but at the same time simple, complete, free and impartial'. Supervising their work is the Scientific Committee, which brings together judges, magistrates, lawyers and law professors from all over Italy.

At the domain <https://ildiritto.it/> the homepage of the journal is already visible and active, with the first articles published and already available for consultation on civil, criminal, administrative, tax and labour law. Moreover, from the platform it is possible to subscribe to a newsletter, in order to stay up-to-date on the publication of the latest articles, contact the editorial staff to contribute to the column "Il giurista risponde" and, through the appropriate link, access the Dike Giuridica portal, where one can directly purchase the texts, magazines and study manuals produced by the publishing house.

The publishing initiative is aimed at enhancing the group's web presence, as declared during the IPO, and maximising the value of the content produced beyond the traditional publication of printed books. Investments, in fact, are extremely low thanks to the prevalent contribution of the group's in-house editorial staff. At the same time, it is considered essential to provide a specialised legal information service for professionals.

"The D is a new challenge for the Simone S.p.A. group, which with this operation continues its growth path outlined during the IPO phase," commented Luca Misso, Simone's CEO. "In addition to having created a new online publication, which we are confident will become a point of reference and an effective tool for players in the legal sector, we are increasing our presence on the web, creating a preferential sales channel between users and our manuals. My thanks go to the authors of the
