PRESS RELEASE

Edil San Felice secures a €1.8 million contract from Avio for the construction of civil infrastructure at the Avio base in French GuianaThe company continues its diversification journey and enters the aerospace sector

Naples, March 14, 2025 – Edil San Felice S.p.A. Società Benefit ("the Company" or "Edil San Felice") - a leading integrated operator in the maintenance of critical infrastructure in Italy, listed on the Euronext Growth Milan market - has secured a contract from Avio worth €1,870,000 for the construction of civil infrastructure at Avio's facility in French Guiana.

This contract holds significant strategic value for Edil San Felice, as it continues its diversification into adjacent markets - a process that began with its first railway sector contract awarded by RFI in June 2024 - and marks its entry into the aerospace sector.

The work will take place within Avio's French Guiana facility, starting in mid-2025 and lasting 18 months. Edil San Felice's teams will be responsible for the construction of various civil infrastructure elements within the site.

Lorenzo Di Palma, CEO of Edil San Felice, stated: "we are truly pleased to work with a company as strategically important to the national system as Avio. For Edil San Felice, this contract has dual strategic significance: it allows us to expand beyond national borders and enter a new sector, continuing the gradual diversification process we have undertaken in recent months, both in terms of industries and expertise. Our expansion into the railway sector and now into aerospace represents two fundamental milestones in Edil San Felice's growth and development journey".
